"It may be that when we no longer know what to do, we have come to our real work and when we no longer know which way to go, we have begun our real jour-ployed. The impeded stream is the one that sings."

PROGRAM NOTES

We welcome back this morning Dr Virginia A. Parrish, professor emeritus from Southeastern Oklahoma State University. She lives with her Labrador retriever, Cheyenne, in a somewhat tiny home with a big yard and big trees in Durant. Her Doctorate degree centered on film and creative writing with a dash of literature and a dash of theatre. She loves the outdoors, traveling via automobile across the U.A., writing, watching and studying film, studying the environment, and study theology and spirituality. She has three daughter, three son-in-law, nine grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

The 2020 Stewardship Campaign will kick off on May 11th. Look for details in the May Red River Ramblings.

The Spring Congregational Meeting has been postponed due to the need to shelter in place. The board decided on Sunday, June 28th. If the chapel is still closed we'll meet via Zoom.

LIVING WITH GRATITUDE

Rev. Dr. Marlin Lavanhar, speaking (video message)

The worship team decided for the month of May each member is going to select a video sermon given at some UU church. Marla selected a sermon by the senior minister at All Souls Unitarian Church in Tulsa.

Sundays at All Souls include three worship experiences, A contemporary service, a praise service and a traditional service. Each with a different style and focus. Living with Gratitude was delivered at a traditional worship service in late 2018.
